EXPECTING THE HOLY SPIRIT

The seventh Sunday of Easter comes between the feast of the Ascension and that of Pentecost. The Church lives the novena to the Holy Spirit. Like the disciples, we are in the Cenacle awaiting the coming of the Spirit that Christ promised his disciples upon his returning to the Father. The disciples experienced both a deep sensation of loneliness and a profound hope. The book of the Acts of the Apostles acknowledges they were locked together in one room for fear of the Jews and assiduous in prayer. We can easily understand the disciples, for we too frequently feel lonely and fearful. Just like them, we miss the physical presence of Jesus. During our recent pilgrimage to the Holy Land, we heard our guide saying many times: "here Jesus was born; here he was baptized; here he preached to the crowds; here he performed miracles, etc..." Although we felt blessed to be there, we deeply wished that we could have witnessed what truly happened in those places. We wished that we too could have touched Jesus, heard his human voice, and experienced his wondrous personality. We envied the fate of the disciples, of the wedding guests at Cana, of Zaccheus, Lazarus, Mary Magdalene and all those who enjoyed the awesome privilege to encounter Christ in the flesh. We really miss this physical presence that would rid us of all doubts and hesitations and inflame us with more zeal and conviction in our witness. But obviously that was not God's will. Christ's visible presence was only for a short time. Upon leaving, Christ made a promise that he will be with us every day until the end of time, he will send us the Holy Spirit, and he added: "It is better for you that I go." God wants to endow us with the tremendous Power that the New Testament called: the Paraclete, the Advocate, Comforter, Counselor, Defender, Intercessor, Revealer; that power that shone on the face of Christ to make us like him and to make us do what Christ did. "Send forth your Spirit, O Lord, and renew the face of the earth!"

Unis dans la prière

Entre l'Ascension et la Pentecôte, les textes bibliques nous invitent à la prière. C'est la seule attitude qui convient à des disciples qui attendent la venue de l'Esprit Saint. L'Évangile nous montre Jésus lui-même qui va prier pour nous. Nous nous tournons vers lui en ouvrant nos mains et nos cœurs. Le but de la prière c'est de nous mettre en état de réceptivité au don que Dieu veut nous faire.

La première lecture est tirée du livre des actes des apôtres ; elle nous montre la prière d'Étienne, le premier martyr. Il a suivi Jésus jusqu'au bout sans renoncer à sa foi, même devant la menace. Sa prière est pour nous un modèle de confiance.

Avec la deuxième lecture, nous avons une deuxième prière. C'est celle de toute l'Église au Christ vainqueur de la mort du péché. Nous avons là un message d'espérance adressé à des chrétiens persécutés. Quoi qu'il arrive, rien ni personne ne peut empêcher le Christ de vouloir nous associer à sa victoire.

Avec l'Évangile, nous avons une troisième prière. C'est une prière qui nous fait entrer dans l'intimité de Jésus avec son Père. Tout au long des Évangiles, nous voyons que le Christ a régulièrement éprouvé ce besoin de se retirer pour prier, pour être avec le Père. Il y passait de longues heures, surtout au moment des décisions les plus importantes.

Jésus confie d'abord au Père ses apôtres. Sa Passion sera pour eux une difficile épreuve, un difficile combat de la fidélité. Il prie pour eux et pour ceux qui recevront leur témoignage : « qu'il soit UN en nous, eux aussi, pour que le monde croie que tu m'as envoyé. » Des communautés divisées sont un contre témoignage qui dit le contraire de Dieu. La prière de Jésus est une prière vraiment universelle parce qu'elle englobe tous les hommes de tous les temps. Elle est aussi universelle que sa mission de sauveur, mission qu'il a confiée à ses disciples et à nous aujourd'hui.

Tout au long de ces derniers jours qui nous préparent à la Pentecôte, l'heure est donc à la prière. Le Christ nous veut tous avec lui. Il compte sur nous pour adhérer à son désir qui est aussi celui du Père. Viens Seigneur Jésus ! Envoie-nous ton Esprit Saint ! Qu'il vienne affermir notre foi notre espérance et notre charité. Qu'il vienne nous faire vivre de l'amour du Père.

June 2 ~ Seventh Sunday of Easter

In today's Gospel we hear part of Jesus's final discourse to his Apostles. These are among the most touching and inspiring words of Scripture. Jesus speaks from his heart, giving instructions and encouragement to his closest friends. Directing his words to his Father, Jesus prays: "And I have given them the glory you gave me, so that they may be one, as we are one, I in them and you in me..." Take time this week to read this gospel as Jesus' prayer for us. How will you respond to this prayer?

LA FETE DE L'ASCENSION:

La fête de l'Ascension ne doit pas être confondue avec la fête de l'Assomption. La première fête concerne Notre Seigneur Jésus-Christ. C'est celle que nous venons de célébrer jeudi dernier. L'Ascension marque l'élévation au ciel du Christ quarante jours après sa résurrection; elle marque donc la fin de la présence sur terre de Jésus-Christ dans la chair. L'ASSOMPTION concerne la Très Sainte Vierge Marie. C'est l'événement au cours duquel la Vierge Marie, Mère de Jésus, au terme de sa vie terrestre, est entrée directement dans la gloire du ciel, âme et corps, sans connaître la corruption physique qui suit la mort. Le mot Assomption provient du latin assumere, qui signifie « prendre », « enlever »; le mot Ascension provient du latin ascendere qui signifie "monter", "élever". Celui qui était descendu du ciel pour connaître notre situation humaine est remonté vers le Père dans la gloire céleste. "Nul n'est monté au ciel sinon Celui qui est descendu, le Fils de l'Homme" (Jean 3, 13). Deux évangiles mentionnent explicitement l'Ascension de Jésus. Celui de Marc le place juste après l'épisode de la Résurrection: "Le Seigneur, après leur avoir parlé, fut enlevé au ciel, et il s'assit à la droite de Dieu" (Marc 16, 9). Chez Saint Luc l'Ascension constitue la fin de son évangile et le commencement du livre des Actes des apôtres écrit par le même Saint Luc. Avec l'Ascension une partie de notre humanité est déjà parvenue vers les cieux nouveaux où nous avançons en titubant. Jésus est allé nous préparer une place dans la maison du Père. Il reste néanmoins toujours présent au milieu de nous sous la mouvance de l'Esprit-Saint-Paraclet, l'Avocat, le Défenseur, l'Intercesseur.
